OUT OF THIS WORLD!

The latest crop of international imports has landed on U.S. soil, sending design fanatics into orbit. Just take a gander at these funky new lead-free crystal, glass, and brass UFO chandeliers, designed by Kim+Heep for the Austrian glassware company Lobmeyr. "It's our 50th anniversary this year," says co-owner Leonid Rath, a J. & L. Lobmeyr family descendant, "so we thought about what was going on in 1966, when the space age was in full swing." Clockwise from above left: $18,343 (Nyota), $13,713 (Ellen), and $16,675 (Orson), at Les Ateliers Courbet, 175 Mott St, NYC, 212-226-7378, ateliercourbet.com.

1 RAYS AND SHINE

Canadian designer Victoria Wilmotte's Pli side table uses bent metal to play with light, making your living room shimmer from any angle. Available in four finishes. $1,965, at Avenue Road, 145 W. 28th St., NYC, 212-453-9880, avenue-road.com.

2 SOFT TOUCH

Available in three finishes and smoked or bronzed glass, the steel-framed Softwing table lamp casts a reassuring glow when things go bump in the night. $2,081 (without sensor) or $2,500 (with sensor), at Flou, 42 Greene St., NYC, 212-941-9101, flou.it.

3 LOOKING SHARP

Italian architect and interior designer Achille Salvagni's newest collection includes refined sculptural pieces, such as the Pietra cocktail table, made of polished lacewood. $28,000, at Maison Gerard, 43 E. 10th St., NYC, 212-674-7611, maisongerard.com.

4 ISOLA DOES IT

A seductive mash-up of smoky gray Italian glass and silver-plated brass, the Isola shelving system stands apart. $2,900 for 61" w. or $5,920 for 108" w. (shown), at DDC, 134 Madison Ave., NYC, 212-685-0800, ddcnyc.com.
