SPOTLIGHT: LOIRE VALLEY

Timothy Corrigan

The Angeleno designer has a second home (a château!) in the famed region of France.

VISIT THE NEW GARDENS at Château de Chambord (chambord.org), then dine at La Maison d'à Côté (lamaisondacote.fr); chef Christophe Hay's inventive menu reaps the region's bounty.

I LOVE THE ATELIER D'OFFARD, a studio in Tours (atelierdoffard.com) where they mix innovation and history to create the most amazing wallpapers.

Corrigan is featured in Decor magazine's "Reverberation" issue. To the trade; samuelandsons.com.

WHAT I PACK

You can go anywhere in a dark blue suit, even Buckingham Palace. It attracts porters looking for tips and invitations from locals into private houses, and telegraphs to people like me that I'm one of them. —HUTTON WILKINSON, DESIGNER

SPOTLIGHT: NEW YORK

BLOCK PARTY

A little strip of East 10th Street in Manhattan is a global bazaar of design.

Bernd Goeckler (bgoecklerantiques.com) stocks blue-chip 20th-century European pieces. Karl Kemp Antiques (karlkemp.com) is ground zero for Biedermeier. Find a who's who of Nordic ceramists at Hostler Burrows (hostlerburrows.com). La Manufacture Prelle (prelle.fr) sells haute French fabric. O'Sullivan Antiques (osullivanantiques.com) specializes in English and Irish objects. Maison Gerard is the go-to for French Art Deco (maison Gerard.com).

SPOTLIGHT: ICELAND

Sheila Bridges

A Reykjavik pied-à-terre is this New Yorker's escape.

THERE ARE so many great restaurants and shops! Kronkron (kronkron.com) is fabulous for one-of-a-kind shoes and fashion; I go to Mat Bar (matbar.is) for cocktails and Rok (rokrestaurant.is) for Nordic tapas and views of Hallgrímskirkja church.

DON'T LEAVE ICELAND without tölting on an Icelandic horse (which is not a pony!) and buying some black lava sea salt.
